KAISER'S BODY HERE

Man-Eating Shark Shipped Labeled
With Cheering Applaudation.

The body of the dead kaiser was the inscription upon a huge, roughly-made box some twelve feet long by about two and a half feet deep and three feet wide, which was delivered to the door of the Booth fisheries by an express wagon Monday morning.
Attracted by the unusual sight of such a huge box with its equally unusual inscription, a big crowd soon gathered.
The box was piled open and its occupant proved to be even more hideous than one might imagine the dead "beast of Berlin" would look. It was a real man-eating shark, so said Manager Frank, of the fisheries, and this view, it seemed, was held by the vast majority of those present. The fish was removed from his "coffin" and carried into the shop, where he was measured and weighed. The huge fish weighed 612 pounds, measuring more than eleven feet from the tip of his flat nose to the end of his fan-like tail. The shark's head was twenty-six inches wide, and it could open its mouth wide enough to accommodate a block more than a foot square with ease. In the gaping cavity a block of ice was placed to keep the fish from spoiling. The shark was placed in the show window and during the rest of the day a crowd which blocked the sidewalk hung around to get a glimpse of a real man-eating shark.

Several of the crowd made several offers for the shark from people who wished to place him on display as an advertisement. These he refused, however, and is awaiting orders from the headquarters of the fisheries in Jacksonville, from which point the fish was shipped, as to what to do with it. He said he believed the fish would be cut up and sold. If this should be done, it will probably be the first time that shark meat has been put on the local market. It was said by some that shark meat is just as good, if not better, than the meat of catfish.

WOMAN HELD IN CUSTODY

She Accompanied a Man and Five Gallons of Moonshine.

Scottsboro, (Special)—Late Monday afternoon Sheriff D. O. Austin received a telephone message from Deputy Sheriff Bill Glover stating that he had arrested a woman who was passing through Stevenson in a buggy, and because of their suspicious actions, he proceeded to search the buggy and was awarded by finding five-gallon leg of "moonshine." In the confusion that followed the man escaped. Sheriff Austin noted Glover hold the woman and liquor and to notify Commissioner Watts, of Huntsville, to send a government agent at once to take the horse and carriage in charge, as he had no jurisdiction over it. Glover did not find out the man's name, but he came from the direction of South Pittsburg.

SERIOUSLY HURT.

Lad Climbs Telephone Pole and Receives Stunning Shock.

Little Walter Marler, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Marler, of 804 Union avenue, is in a serious condition at home of his parents as a result of a fall from a telephone cable Monday afternoon. The lad was at play and after climbing the pole he sat astride the cable. When he took hold of an overhead wire he received a bad shock and was hurled to the ground. He fell about twenty-five feet to the ground with such force that his skull was fractured. He has been unconscious since the accident. An X-ray picture of the fracture, which it is feared is a bad one, was taken Tuesday. When the home was called Tuesday afternoon Walter had not recovered consciousness.
